Tamer met his best friend Seko there and the three of them teamed up against life. Tamer was an excellent student who achieved great success as a game developer. He married his college sweetheart Berrin, and they have a daughter, Damla. A giant American company invested 300 million USD in Tamer's company when the computer game he designed became a huge success.

Tamer, who suddenly becomes wealthy, buys a mansion on the Bosphorus to gather his family under one roof. The joy of his mother Aysel and his heartless father Bülent, who settled in the mansion, cannot be described. However, it will be challenging for Tamer to forget the painful days of the past.

Peri is an attractive, successful private bank manager in her early thirties. As a teenager, she was deeply disappointed when her mother left her home and family to begin her own life with her lover. After losing her father to a heart attack, she was left alone with her ill sister Naz. Despite Naz's jealousy of Peri's success, beauty, and strong outlook on life, Peri was a sister and mother to her. Peri continued living with her sister after she married Sarper and dedicated herself to caring for Naz. Her world crumbled when she learned of her sister's and husband's betrayal. When Peri came home from work late one evening, she found her sister and her husband died in the bathtub. The pain could no longer be endured by Peri, so she committed suicide in an effort to end her suffering.

While Peri wanders the streets intending to commit suicide, she finds herself unexpectedly entangled in Tamer's secret world. After seeing Peri on the street, drunk and staggering, Tamer instinctively feels the need to save her and kidnaps the young woman and takes her to the basement of his mansion. After spending time together in the basement, they will realize their similarities and with time they will find comfort in each other's presence. Soon Berrin will find out about the affair and the love between Tamer and Peri will be tested in many ways. It will take time for their obsessive love to turn into a bond of affection over time.
